All About You

Come in and explore Tate Modern, and please excuse the temporary scaffolding while we carry out work on the chimney

AGS Scaffolding is a market leader in the field of design, provision and erection of temporary access and support scaffolds.

In this age of striving to protect our planet where better to start than to take a look at what we do. Scaffolding, by its very nature, is a product that is used, re-used and when it is passed it's best, recycled. AGS are proud that we can happily say all of our products and materials are re-used and recycled, without compromise to safety or quality, even down to the paint tins that we use.

We take these thoughts and apply them to your projects. By being practical in our approach we offer a service that is economic and that works. We begin by examining your needs and then by designing an efficient, practical and adaptable solution. We can deliver a service to you that not only suits your requirements but often exceeds them. Why not visit our website or give us a call and let us help you get the very best from the scaffolding and access needs for your project.

Scaffolding is not just about putting up an access platform to provide support or for people to work from. It is about our design, our management and our engineering; it is about making sure that it is fit for the job, making sure that it is designed correctly, making sure that it is safe, making sure that it is adaptable, making sure that it works and primarily making sure that it's -

SCAFFOLDING

AGS Media Structures are the experts in hoarding, site screening, temporary platforms and support structures.

Hoarding and screening provides an ideal medium to identify the contractor or as a vehicle for advertising or marketing. It is essential in maintaining security and is critical to the Health & Safety in and around a site.

It is not enough just to erect a hoarding and walk away, AGS Media Structures will initially design the project, build and maintain all manner of hoarding and screening using conventional materials selected to suit the situation. AGS offer paint finish in your colours, branding, full trim, banners and advertising. We are happy to discuss any proposed scheme with you and offer a variety of solutions.

AGS Media Structures design to your brief, build and also maintain hoarding and screening using the most beneficial and appropriate materials to suit your needs.

AGS Media Structures offer screening, hoarding, temporary structures and platforms to everyone from the construction and civil engineering industries to the entertainment, advertising and marketing industries.
